

PROLEĆNA PESMA · SPRING SONG

Translation of the Poem

The poem was written by the Serbian poet Desanka Maksimović (1898-1993). The translation reads as follows:

Osećam večeras, dok posmatram laste

I pupoljke rane,

Kako srce moje polagano raste, Ko vidik u lepe nasmejane dane;

Kako s mladim biljem postaje sve veće

I lako ko krilo,

I kako mu celo jedno nebo sreće I pakao bola ne bi dosta bilo;

Kako čezne za svim što bi život mogo

Lepog da mu dade,

I da mu ničega ne bi bilo mnogo: Tako su velike čežnje mu i nade.

Osećam da dosad sve je bilo šala

Moga srca vrela,

Da još nikom nisam svoju ljubav dala Koliku bih mogla i koliku htela;

Da u meni cela nežna plima

Reči nerečeni;

Da bih srce mogla poklanjati svima, I da opet mnogo ostane ga meni. I feel, this evening, while watching swallows

And early buds,

That my heart is growing slowly, As the horizon of smiley days;

That it's getting bigger with all the plants

And as light as a feather,

And that a whole Heaven of happiness Or a Hell of pain wouldn't really matter;

That it's longing for everything beautiful

Life could give to it,

And that nothing would be too much:

So big are its desires and hopes.

I feel that everything until now was

My warm heart's joke,

That I haven't given my love to anyone yet As much as I could do and as much I desire;

That there is a gentle tide

Of unspoken words inside me;

That I could give my heart to everyone

And that it could still remain a lot inside of me.

Serbian Pronunciation Guide

The pronunciation of the Serbian language is fairly simple. With a few exceptions, every letter is always pronounced the same way, no matter what precedes or follows:
